The Frequency of Money®

Overview of Presentation

Did you know that your money situation has little to do with your education level, job title, or socioeconomic status; that the amount of money you have has nothing to do with taxes, wages, or prevailing government policy?

The real reason you do not have all the money that you desire reflects your most tightly held thoughts, beliefs, and feelings about money. And how you speak about money is a much better barometer of your net worth than any commonly performed financial analysis.

The Frequency of Money® platform is designed to help you get your money right once and for all. Whether you are young or old, an individual, group, organization, or business, you can recondition your thoughts, language, and feelings to receive all the money you request.
